The business firms here have anticipated the needs of the people and shopping conditions are to be up to the standard.

Annually people come from miles around to do their trading at Christmas time in Cameron and the city has become a center of buying, standing out above other centers through the years.

Shoppers are given the usual admonition to buy early. Not only will early shopping give the customer the advantage of time but will enable the clerks to give better service.

THREE RAILROADS PAY BIG TAX TOLL IN CO.

$37,000 TOTAL IS PAID THROUGH COLLECTOR'S OFFICE IN MILAM

With the receipt of remittance from the International & Great Northern Railroad for $12,697 and $88,309 from the Southern Pacific the total contribution of railroads to tax totals in the county amounts to $37,000 and a little over.

Roy Law, tax collector, has received checks from the Southern Pacific and the I. & G. N. in response to his request for early payment because of the drought conditions. The roads through their tax and land agent have responded liberally to the treasury of the county and the people are grateful for these early remittances. It is estimated that the roads pay close to ten per cent of the taxes in the county.

Specialty Shop Is Featuring Gifts For Christmas

The Specialty Shop of which Mrs. Lola Hearrell is proprietor is one of shoppers this season.

The shop is resplendent with displays of novelty goods and hundreds of items designed for gifts. She has purchased a large stock and will assist the shoppers in selecting gifts for Christmas.

Mrs. Hearrell has received recently a large shipment of goods and the public will be interested in her announcements.

Selling Farmalls To Farmers In Co.

Judd G. Davis of the Milam County Hardware Company has placed a number of Farmall tractors on farms in this county and has disposed of the last tractor received in the shipments made to the firm.

It is not likely that the firm will have another shipment of tractors this year but will resume sales next season. The farmall tractor is adopted to every kind of farm and power work, being used not only for breaking land but for cultivation as well.

Better farm methods will follow the tractor on the farms of Milam county and their purchase by farmers is encouraging.

MRS. MARIE FISCHER BURIED AT BUCKHOLTS

SERVICES HELD FOR WIFE AND MOTHER WHO DIED FRIDAY DECEMBER 4

Funeral was held for Mrs. Marie Fischer at Buckholts and many sorrowing relatives and friends paid tribute of respect.

Mrs. Marie Fischer nee Kasper was born at New Ulm, Austin County, Texas. She was baptized by the Rev. John Kilian, of Serben, Texas. Later she entered the parochial school at Serben, Texas. This union was blessed with seven children, two sons and five daughters, of which one son and daughter preceded her into death. Friday morning at two A. M. she was taken out of this veil of tears to her heavenly home. The direct cause to her death was neuritis of the heart. She leaves to mourn her loss, her widowed husband, Wm. Fischer, four daughters, Mrs. Ella Hannas, Mrs. Carolina Rachul, Mrs. Leticia Beckhusen, Mrs. Clara Svetlik, six grand children, and one sister, Mrs. Geo. Preuss of Giddings.

BLANKENSHIP CASE IS ON TRIAL IN COURT

BUCKHOLTS MURDER CASE IS BEING TRIED IN DISTRICT COURT HERE

Keith Blankenship charged with the murder of Billie Hill near Buckholts early in 1925 is now on trial in the district court.

Hill is being represented by Chambers, Wallace and Gillis. Jack Lewis, prosecuting attorney is representing the state.

The killing of Billie Hill grew out of trouble that originated on a public road leading into Buckholts when the men engaged in a quarrel and after a fight, Hill was cut to death with a knife, crawling a few yards to the shade of a tree where he died. The father of Hill was also cut.

Blankenship was severely beaten about the head and body with an automobile jack and for a number of days hopes for his recovery were slight.

The entire day Monday and a portion of Tuesday were consumed in selecting a jury.

BAPTIST HEAR ABOUT STATE CONVENTION

FOREIGN MISSION WORK BURDEN FOR CHURCH PROGRAM FOR PRESENT

An echo from the convention at Mineral Wells of Texas Baptists was the portion of the congregation at the Baptist church Sunday night when reports were made by Rev. and Mrs. Hutcherson who were delegates to the meeting.

Mr. Harrell who is here for a week in connection with the Sunday School work of the church made a report of the Sunday school division of the convention.

Following this Rev. W. C. Binford, educational director for the church preached a short gospel sermon. His subject was "Sin" and the appeal was to the unsaved.

Mrs. Hutcherson in her report gave a review of the woman's division of the convention. The report was a plea for aid for foreign missions and excited sympathetic interest from the big congregation.

Rev. Hutcherson in his reference to the convention told of the need for raising the foreign mission fund. He said figures compiled show that missionaries are living on slightly in excess of $400. in foreign fields and Cameron church will be asked to give one dollar per member.

He called attention of the congregation to comment in The Messenger, the church paper, in which it is shown that if Texas were placed on the same basis as foreign lands there would only be four Baptist preachers in Texas. The need is urgent, he said, and it is expected that the congregation here will respond liberally.

Miss Boedeker gained the additional distinction of being among the three making the highest grades in her class.

HONORED RESIDENT OF CAMERON IS DEAD AT 63

DEATH ENDS NOTABLE CAREER FOR CAMERON BUSINESS MAN

J. D. Hefley, 63, for more than a third century leader in city development and honored citizen, died at the family residence at 1:00 p. m. Wednesday December 9, 1925 following an illness of about two months.

The end came peacefully with members of the family and physicians at the bedside. His condition was considered grave since Tuesday when change for the worse was noted.

The announcement of his death has brought sorrow to hundreds who knew and honored him in life. His career as a business man in Cameron had influenced the progress of the city for more than a quarter century.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Sadie Pannell Hefley and a son, Jeff D. Hefley Jr., sisters and other relatives.

The funeral was held from the family residence at 3:30 p. m. Thursday with interment in Oak Hill Cemetery, account of which in detail will be printed in the succeeding issue.

Wednesday the passing of Mr. Hefley cast a pall of gloom over the city of Cameron. His illness had been serious for some time and he had been the recipient of the most intelligent care of physicians and nurses and of the tenderest devotion of his wife and son, Jeff D. Hefley Jr., who had been constantly with his father's condition became alarming.

Cameron mourns the loss of a favorite citizen; one who was ever active and alert to promote the development of the business interest of the town and one who contributed liberally of his time, money and personal effort to enhance the welfare of Cameron. His parents were Texas pioneers.

He was the son of William Vance Hefley and Jane Emily Hefley who came to Texas from Tennessee in 1851 and lived on their farm home-stand north of Cameron for many years. He was one of the thirteen children.

His boyhood and youth were spent in the country. He received his early education in country schools, and where, and in his very young manhood entered upon a business career.

For many years he was a hardware merchant. He has been connected with the business interests of Cameron in many ways. His real estate dealings would fill a volume and most interesting history would be unrolled in the progressive history of Cameron's development as a city. Hefley Heights, the most beautiful residence section of Cameron bears his name and recently had promoted the sale of lots in the new Green Addition where he and his splendid wife have recently erected a new residence.

Community enterprises were always successful when Mr. Hefley was instrumental in their promotion. His character was marked for firmness, determination, persistence, shrewdness and acumen. To these qualities were added the genial wit, love of knowledge and relish for the lighter graces of life which rendered him the lovable friend and gentleman that he was.

He was married to Miss Sadie Pannell in Houston in September 1890. To their union two sons were born, one of whom with his mother, survives his father. The Herald extends to them for many friends deepest sympathy.

unction of being among the three making the highest grades in her class.

Poll Tax Payments Lower Than For The Previous Years

Poll Tax payments for 1925 are said to be considerably below the figure of last year for the same period. Only about 700 or a little over have been paid, according to Roy Law, tax collector for Milam County.

Payment of property taxes is much higher in aggregate than was expected and well above the same period for last year.

Mr. Law is urging collections and has been successful in getting in some of the largest tax accounts of the county.

CAMERON PEOPLE ARE PLEASED WITH TEST

EDISON ARTISTS APPLAUDED AND PERFORMANCE OF INSTRUMENT PRAISED

One of the most unique and thoroughly pleasing recitals ever given in Cameron was presented last week at the Yoe High School by Helen Davis and Victor Young. The recital was an artistic success in every respect and the New Cameron Drug Company is to be congratulated for securing these capable and charming artists for an appearance here.

It had been rumored that Miss Davis would sing in unison with her re-created voice and that the audience would not be able to tell the difference between re-created voice and the living voice. Needless to say, many persons were skeptical. Attempt to match the glorious voice with a device of mere wood and metal. Impossible! The skeptics were soon convinced, however, for, in Miss Davis' initial number on the program, her lips ceased to move, but her song went on. Slowly it dawned on the mystified audience that Miss Davis was no longer singing, though her voice came forth as clear and sweet as before. Again, she sang, but the audience only knew it was the living Miss Davis by the motion of her lips. It seemed as if there were two artists on the stage—two singers, but only one voice. The tones emanating from the New Edison were identical with those of the living artist and it was impossible to detect any difference. The instrument produced not an echo or copy, but the real thing—Miss Davis' voice untainted by any mechanical transformation—unspoiled by any metallic ring.

Further numbers in which the artists performed with themselves impressed the conviction of one's inability to distinguish between re-created art and its original.

TAX COLLECTIONS IN COUNTY AHEAD 1924

OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER COL- LECTIONS $68,580.44 SAYS COLLECTOR

Tax Collection for 1925 are in excess of collections for 1924 for the same period October and November by $5,000, according to Roy Law, tax collector.

Statement just compiled of the collections for October and November for 1925 show a total of $68,580.44 as against $63,638.85 for October and November in 1924.

Mr. Law believes the collections this year will be very much higher than was anticipated, in fact it is thought the total will be almost as high as that of 1924 at the end of the period which is January 31.

In the collections reported, how-

FORD GREEN INSTALLS RADIO STATION

An interesting item to the friends of Mrs. Idella Green and Mrs. Pearl Clement was carried in the state papers last week to the effect that Mrs. Green's grandson and Mrs. Pearl Clement's nephew, Ford Green, son of Mr. Robert Green of Brownsville now a freshman student of Southwestern University, Georgetown will install a radio broadcasting station for the University early in January which news will be hailed with pleasure by local radio fans and all who are interested in news from Southwestern University.

A long dreamed of project is to be launched in the first days of January, when Ford Green, radio amateur of Brownsville, will install his broadcasting station at Southwestern University. While the station will not be very powerful, Mr. Green states that it will reach all parts of the state, and this is the territory that would be most interested in Southwestern.

The station will be used for concerts, lectures, debates and reports of athletic contests. The fine arts department will play a large part in furnishing the programs.

In addition to broadcasting, the station will be a member of the relay league and will handle messages on amateur wave length. The signal set will be a two tube Hartley circuit, on a wave length of 20, 40, 80 and 150 meters. In Brownsville, where Green has operated his station for some time he has been logged in nearly all states of the Union.

The broadcasting set will be a four tube Meissner circuit, using a wave length between 220 and 250 meters. The exact wave length will be determined by the government when the license is granted.

Green will be chief operator, assisted by Jack Whitaker of Sulphur Springs, as well as by several others who are familiar with radio. Green is a licensed operator with a first grade certificate. During the past summer he operated the municipal station at Brownsville.

The station here will be located on the first floor of the science building, while the studio will be in one of the reception rooms of Mood Hall, a dormitory.

The Power of Thought

By WARREN ORDWAY

(©, 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

MR. HOLLOWAY was in an expansive mood, as he had just come from a good dinner and an ovation. Before an enthusiastic audience at the City club he had made his famous speech on "The Power of Thought."

He unbuttoned his vest and seated himself before his "workbench," as he liked to call his mahogany desk. "Now, if I can have an uninterrupted hour I can get some real work out of the way," he said.

Quiet thought was what accomplished things! From the day when as a young man, Holloway had stumbled across the formula for hardening the rubber in tires he had longed for time to think.

A workman entered and stood before Mr. Holloway's desk asking his advice. Mr. Holloway rose, cursing the interruption, and followed the workman into an adjoining room where the last finishing touches were being put on some alterations. The workman asked a question about the trim, which Mr. Holloway answered instantly.

He did not return at once to his office, but walked about the room, admiring the details. It was to be an absolutely quiet room.

"When this quiet room is finished I'll be able to get some real work done!" Mr. Holloway exclaimed, as he returned to his desk.

No sooner had he got squared away than the office manager, a thin, nervous fellow, in a black haircloth coat, bustled up. "Mr. Holloway, I'm at my wits' end," he fumed. "They're taking my storage space for factory materials, and I don't know where in the world I'm going to put the transfer correspondence." He spread a plan on his chief's desk.

Mr. Holloway scrutinized the plan, and like a flash, the solution came to him. He picked up the plan and boomed: "I'll let you know later. And in the meantime I'll give the matter my best thought."

The telephone rang and a City club secretary a thousand miles away asked if he would give his speech before their organization. "Yes, yes!" he shouted, and turned with a groan back to his plan.

A young man quietly entered the democratic office and stood before Mr. Holloway's desk. "I'm from Successful Men Magazine, and our readers want your ideas on the power of thought," Mr. Holloway gave his views, his voice trembling with the desire to throw the interrupting young man into the street.

A few days later the quiet room was finished. Every stick of furniture was in its place, and even the bronze reproduction of Rodin's "Thinker," reposed on the mantle. Mr. Holloway cleared the room of reporters and guests and announced he should first consider the problem of the office manager's transfer files.

Mr. Holloway sank back into one of the capacious padded leather chairs. This was the critical moment to which he had looked forward all through his business life. No more distractions; no more snap judgments, but from now on every decision firmly rooted in the deep thought that flourishes only in silence.

He spread the office manager's plan on the table, folded his hands across his unbuttoned vest and closed his eyes, the better to concentrate on the problem. He leaned his head against the leather chair back and relaxed every muscle.

The silence of the room hung over him like a blanket. He could hear the blood pounding in his head, while in his ears there rang a sharp, thin sound, like a distant locomotive whistle.

The ringing in his ears grew louder and became the whistle of a yacht—his yacht, bought with the extra profits made through the use of the silent room. He was standing on deck as the glorious boat plowed the blue waters of the Mediterranean sea. But what was the booming and that rattle of guns? A pirate ship in the distance! Its cannon was firing a shot a second, and its small arms were rattling an accompaniment. It was coming nearer, nearer. He shouted to the captain of his yacht. "Shoot! Why don't you shoot?"

Mr. Holloway awoke with a start. He snapped on the light and looked at his watch. After six! He had slept for over four hours!

He opened the great felt door and tiptoed across the dark, deserted office to where his hat was hanging. Glancing about, fearful lest he should meet one of his employees, he slunk shamefacedly to the elevator.

Next morning the office manager stood expectantly before Mr. Holloway's desk. "Did you decide about those cases of transfer correspondence?" he asked.

Mr. Holloway handed him a cigar and cleared his throat. "Don't be surprised," he warned with a nervous laugh.

After the two men had lighted their cigars Mr. Holloway ordered: "You can store the stuff in the new quiet room."

"Wha-wha-a-a?" stammered the office manager.

Mr. Holloway continued more confidently, now the first shock was over. "I've revised my slogan. From now on it's to be, 'Thought plus action.' You might have fifty copies struck off and distributed to all my department heads."

BETTER OUTLOOK IS SEEN BY BAPTISTS

Reports from the various state Baptist conventions, received at Baptists headquarters at Nashville, are to the effect that many of the sessions proved the best that have been held in years. There was a spiritual atmosphere pervading the meeting, which, combined with an expressed determination on the part of the messengers to give themselves with renewed energy to promoting the general work of the denomination during the new year, appears to augur a new day for the organized work of Southern Baptists and of the various state conventions.

Such a situation is very favorable to the prosecution of the Every-Member Canvass for the Cooperative Program that will be put on in the churches in Missouri the last week in November, in South Carolina, the first week in January, but in the other states the first week in December. The majority of the churches will employ the recommended week of December 6 to 13, though some churches may have to modify the date to conform to local situations.

It is confidentially anticipated that many more churches will put on the canvass this year than did so a year ago.

High School Play

Under the direction of Miss Louise Berry, expression teacher at Yoe Hi school, the college play, "The Touch-down," will be presented at the school auditorium Friday evening, December 18th, at 8 o'clock.

Twelve boys and girls of the class 1925-26 will present this play, to be given in the interest of the football boys of Yoe Hi.

The class is now putting some hard study on this piece which gives promise of an evening of real pleasure to all who will attend.

A Pleasant Evening Yoe Hi School

Miss Louise Berry, expression teacher at Yoe Hi school presented her expression pupils and Choral Club last Friday evening, December 4th at Yoe Hi auditorium at 8 o'clock.

A large and appreciative audience was present. Each student acquitted himself splendidly, showing good and careful training, many showing talent along the respective lines.

This is Miss Berry's first class and by their splendid appearance on the stage proved her ability to handle students of her special work. The setting of the stage was attractive and pretty. The following students appeared on the evening's program:

Misses Grace Clinton, Geraldine Lindsey, Ruth Redfield, Vettes Kirk, Frances Hause, Loring Beard, Katherine Mohler Lucile Fowler, Leila Batte, Mary Ellen Manning, Florence Atkinson, Katherine Robbins, Mary Bell Batte, Mozelle Bigbee, Kathleen Baggett and the entire Choral Club of twenty-six girls. Miss Berry gave a beautiful vocal solo at the close of the evening, accompanied by Miss Loring Beard.

"Fish" Defeats "Sophs" By a Close Score

Last Wednesday the "Fish" class played the Sophomores in the first gridiron battle of the big four classic. The Fish defeated the Sophs by a close score, the score being 6 to 0.

The Fish scored in the first quarter through a pass to their all-American end, Charlie Schaeg, who raced for a touchdown. The game was closely contested, the Sophs fighting to score and the Fish fighting to hold what they had.

Several long runs were made by "Cotton" Roberts, Manning and Bryant of the Sophomore team. Manning gained the reputation of being a second Rufus King or a second Fay Wilson on his line plunges and off tackle plays. Roberts played the best game of any man that has ever stepped out on the field this year. He returned punts for good gains averaging from 25 to 30 yards every time.

For the "Fish" Boots Smith, Billy Wallace, Triggs and Rogers were the stars. Smith's end runs and punts was favor from both "Sophs" and "Fish" rooters. The game was hotly and closely contested as the Sophomores went down in defeat defending the cup.

Lost, Strayed, Stolen

Two beautiful Senior sponsors. If found please return to the Senior class. No Reward.

The Senior sponsors have often accused the Senior class of being "pickers." Ask them if we were "pickker" at the football game Friday. Oh yes, that's right—I overlooked the fact that they forgot the class was to even have a game Friday.

A "Red" Grange in Yoe High

A "cotton-headed" boy without a headgear, flashing down the field with the ball tucked underneath his arm, side-stepping with graceful movements, changing of pace to elude a tackler, plowing on and through the field for a distance of 40 yds. This "cotton-headed" boy was returning a punt and fighting for the honor of his class. A second "Red" Grange, except, instead of a red bush appearing from beneath a scarred and battered headgear—it is a sandy bush spreading down over his forehead and falling in his eyes.

After his team mates had failed to stop the opposing backfield man he would tackle them, hit his men on the back inspiring new action, new vigor in them to fight and go for a touchdown—tackling an opposing backfield man he would help him up and off he would sprint to his position waiting for more with more fight than ever—game to the core—he fought to the finish but in the end all he gained was defeat, his classmates couldn't respond against a faster and better team—but its not whether you won or lost but how you played the game. We wish to introduce a second "Red" Grange, a future Yoe High star and a red-blooded sportsman, Alvin "Cotton" Roberts of the Sophomore class.

A Bob Berry in Yoe High

A midget quarterback, swaying and twisting; running at full speed, shot out from beneath his own goal posts to catch a long punt. He deftly caught it and began side-stepping, twisting, pivoting and twirling away and through the opposing team that swarmed upon him like bees. He passed them all and then a streak of lightning hit him. The safety man of the opposing team had saved the game by running up and stopping him.

The midget shone brightly among his fellow stars, far more brightly than the Evening Star that appears in the horizon at sunset. This star, little but loud, will shine more brightly in the future as one of the greatest quarterbacks and safety men that ever trod on a battle-scarred gridiron. Bob Berry of the A. & M. Aggies will have to take his sign down as a broken field runner because Billie Wallace of our own Yoe High and Freshman class has him bested a mile.

Freshmen Yelling Squad

Last week at the football game between the Freshmen and the Sophomores, the "Fish" proved they had the best yelling squad in old Yoe High. During the half they formed a "Y" on the field and we feel certain that their backing helped us win the game.

Dope on the Freshman Football Team

The Freshmen are now practicing daily for the championship game with the Seniors, Thursday, December 10, 1925. They realize that the odds are against them, but a fightin' "Fish" squad will appear for the game and the Seniors will have a job to overcome them. Stay in there and fight "Fightin' Fish."

Championship Game To Be Played Thursday

Last Thursday the Seniors defeated the Juniors by a score of 13 to 6. This made the Seniors eligible to fight the Fish in a gridiron battle. The game had been planned to be played December 15, but on account of most of the Senior football men are on the Basketball squad they will have to play Thursday so they can start practicing regular in basketball.

The Senior team has a heavy weight backfield in Tebow Cone, Wayland Hughes, Newton Tibbs and Albert Horstmann. They only average about 155 pounds. In total the line averages about 145 while the "Fish" line averages about 138. The "Fish" have such stars as "Boots" Smith, Billie Wallace, Montague Triggs, "Puny" Rogers and "All-American" MacDonald.

The Seniors are scheduled to win and if they do they will be the champions of the school and will hold the championship cup.

Yaaaa Seniors Fight!

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

CAMERON, TEXAS

Hudson Essex has broken another record for volume business.

Officials announce their production of motor car No. 256,000 for the year 1925—important because that is just twice the number of Essex-Hudson cars made in 1924, which was itself far in advance of any previous Hudson-Essex year.

The records of the industry, it is said, will show that no other large producer of cars has succeeded in doubling 1924 output.

What Hudson-Essex policy of building and selling has meant in the past few years is shown by the following figures. In 1922, there were built 60,000 Hudson-Essex cars; in 1923, the total was 88,000; last year, 128,000; and this year has already run well over the quarter million mark.

What makes this all the more remarkable is the fact the Hudson-Essex confines its business to the making of a few models, about 90 percent of the total being coaches, and fully 98 percent, being enclosed cars.

This specialization, together with the volume of business done, has brought about a striking degree of economy which has enabled Hudson-Essex to offer unusual value in its cars.

Next year it is expected by the Hudson-Essex management, will show still further gains.

Moonshining Costly To Cameron Man

Moonshining is a costly business, so thinks this Cameron man who was placed under bond here and charged with possessing a still. His home located near one of Cameron's parks was burned at an early hour and as the walls were crumbling the fierce light of the flames disclosed a large still cooking mash on an oil stove in the kitchen.

It is thought the house was ignited by the stove while the mash was cooking.

Render Your Taxes Now Is Asked By Co. Tax Assessor

Miss Lelia Woolley, tax assessor of Milam County has begun the work of assessing taxes for the current year.

The law requires the taxes to be paid between January first and April the 30th. As taxes are paid this year the property owners are being asked to go to the office of assessor and make their renditions.

It is pointed out by the assessor that she has asked the property owners to come to her office for rendition while here to pay their taxes because it will be convenient and save the time and trouble of rendering to a deputy assessor at a time when less convenient.

Four Stills In One Day Is Record Of Milam Co. Sheriff

Four stills in one day and four men under arrest charged with manufacture of liquor is the record of Sheriff Blaylock who has just completed a sensational raid on illicit liquor traffic in Milam County.

Several hundred gallons of mash was confiscated and destroyed and 13 gallons of whiskey was taken in the raids. One of the men taken in the raid was a road overseer.

Work Of Section Foreman Is Praised

The work of Sam Deer, section foreman for the Southern Pacific system at Cameron, has been complimented by the inspectors for the system, 24 in number, who visited Cameron on last week.

They are on a 800 mile inspection tour of the system. A prize is being offered to the section superintendent who maintains the best roadbed and who keeps the property in the best condition.

Mr. Deer has been foreman in Cameron for several years and his work has been satisfactory. He has been with the railroad for about 17 years. He was section foreman for the San Antonio & Aransas Pass before the road was taken over by the Southern Pacific.

The inspectors who visited the city on last Thursday made a thorough inspection of the road and the property under charge of Mr. Deer and found them in the best of condition.

The many friends here of Mr. and Mrs. Deer will be greatly interested in his effort to win the prize.

THOSE THROWN OUT OF WORK

As modern technical science advances, people are constantly being thrown out of work, as the result of some improvement or machine that saves labor. Many of those folks become quite bitter about this development, and think that a form of progress that throws people into idleness is not real progress at all, but does as much harm as good.

And yet the industrial progress and increased prosperity of these times is due to these various improvements, which have made it possible to turn out production at less cost, and have greatly improved conditions for the masses.

Many of the people who are thrown out of work by the introduction of new machines, have been able to obtain jobs running these machines, and have earned more than ever before. Also when costs are reduced by improved production, the people have more money left which they can spend in many ways thus employing many new workers. Many carriage makers, for instance, were thrown out of business, when automobiles came in. But a lot of them got busy and made automobiles and made more money than ever before. The new invention made so many opportunities of employment, that every one should be better off.

So when people are thrown out of work by improvements and labor saving devices, it is up to the mto show adaptability, and learn to take advantage of the new opportunities created by such changes.

All these improvements keep enlarging the field of opportunity. There is plenty of work for willing and skillful workers, but they must be ready to take hold and learn new ways of working.

They can not expect that their work will go on unchanged from year to year, but they must move with the rest of the world. If they do that, they will find conditions constantly improving for them.

CHANGED EDUCATION

The aims of the schools of America change more or less from time to time. It used to be their purpose primarily to turn out young people who would be correct workers. The aim of accuracy was emphasized. Every arithmetic example must be right, the pupil must speak correct grammar, and have a true knowledge of the facts of geography, etc.

These were good ideals as far as they went but they did not go very far. As the country grew, it was seen that skill with the hands is essential, also that young people must have some ability to think. They must not merely remember certain facts, but they should have some general powers of intelligence that could grapple with all kinds of problems.

So we broadened our school courses, in the effort to make the young people generally intelligent. We do not stress accuracy quite so much, perhaps not so much as we should.

Today we see that general intelligence is not enough, and that accuracy does not solve all problems. What we need specially is good citizenship. Our young people may have minds that work with the sharpness and quickness of a steel trap, but if they do not have in their minds some idea of co-operation with their fellows to produce good towns, good cities, and a good country, then they are very much lacking.

The generally intelligent man who breaks laws with freedom, is more of a menace than an ignorant man who is trained to loyal co-operation with the ideals of the community. Intelligent crooks are a far worse peril than the old fashioned ignorant immigrant, who came over here without any mental training, but with a good strong pair of hands and a willingness to obey the laws. We must modify our educational system to include training in good citizenship and morals. That is the big problem for the second quarter of the 20th century to solve.

MORAL GAINS AND LOSSES

In the effort to promote human progress, it will often happen that a good deal of success is accomplished in spreading certain ideas, yet there may be some principles that are not understood as well as in former years.

Just at present it seems that the idea of truth and sincerity is better grasped than in former years. The present age hates hypocrisy. If you inquire into the ideals of the college students, you will find that they dislike any pretense of being different from what they are. That is a fine quality. We read in the writings of David the Psalmist, that God "desireth truth in the inward parts." The great fault in the age that has just passed, was that it lacked frankness. It preached what it did not practice. It is a great gain, if the people are abandoning false pretenses.

But there is an equally important respect in which the present age seems lacking, and that is in the spirit of obedience to law. The motorists who are wilfully violating the traffic regulations, the people who are using bootleg liquor, the students who are willing to break the rules if they don't get caught, the business men who think crooked tricks all right if the public does not discover them, are instances of wide-spread spirit of lawlessness.

Laws and rules are for the benefit of society. The student is required to conform to certain requirements, because he will not get the education that his parents are paying for if he does not. The motor traffic rules are imposed to safeguard the people, etc. Those who will not obey the rules of society seem to lack a willingness to co-operate in accomplishing the ends which the community desires.

What is needed now is to impress the thought that we must all take hold and help to make a better community, which means conforming to the principles which the community establishes.

ONE CAUSE OF FIRES

Defective chimneys are a prominent cause of fires. The structural service bureau of Philadelphia has recommended, to cut down losses from this cause, that all chimneys hereafter be inspected and certified.

It is suggested that chimneys on new houses be tested in this way: Before the scaffolding is removed from around chimneys, and before any chimney walls or breasts are plastered, but not until after the mortar has seasoned, each flue should be given a separate and thorough smoke test. Leaks into adjacent flues should be carefully looked for.

Considering how many people run their heaters and stoves, opening all the drafts and forgetting to close them, it is not surprising that these fires get far too hot, and that inflammable woodwork is often ignited.

COMMUNITY CENTERS

Community centers are proving extremely useful in cities of all sizes. Brooklyn, New York, is a city that has been very progressive in this respect. It has community centers committees working in twelve sections, and at present 21 school buildings are open after school hours for such activities.

They have community dances, socials and parties, clubs, classes, forums, concerts, etc. Over 100 athletic clubs meet in these centers. Many campaigns for permanent improvements have been promoted. One of the centers, for instance, started a movement for a children's playground, while one obtained a branch library.

These centers pay their own expenses, raising money through entertainments, small admissions for dances and parties, club dues, etc. Such centers can be operated anywhere, and we need several of them in Cameron.

WHAT ONE PERSON CAN DO

There are many communities that can look back to one man or woman and see that great gains made by that community are due to a large extent to the foresight of that person.

Such people at the start are frequently regarded as cranks or persons of one idea. They are able to see a long way ahead, and they perceive that their community needs some particular thing. They constantly talk and agitate for the improvement. At first their words are lightly regarded, but gradually the idea makes progress, and finally gets into the head of enough active and pushing people and they "put it over."

People should never be afraid to speak up in favor of things that they see their town needs. Many of the finest parks and playgrounds and handsome buildings possessed in progressive cities, are due in each case to the persistence of one person or a very few.

THE HANDSOME TOWN

Just as the people who are well dressed are said to be better selling goods than those that look shabby, so the town that is handsomely kept up should be more successful in drawing trade than one that looks decadent.

This does not necessarily mean that a town must at once tear down its old buildings and replace them with expensive structures. There are some rather inexpensively built towns that convey a handsome impression by the constant use of paint. They are ashamed to let an old building look run down, and they do not feel that business can be successfully conducted in a shabby structure. Hence the place always looks up to date as the result of its clean appearance. Shabbiness suggests discouragement, which is a state of mind not conducive to business.

MOODY SAYS SESSION PRIVATELY FINANCED IS UNAUTHORIZED AND UNWARRANTED; AGAINST POLICY

Austin, Tex., Dec. 5.—The conflict between Attorney General Moody and Speaker Satterwhite which has been going on for a few days flared up again today when Moody held that a privately underwritten special session would not be proper and Ferguson commented that Moody "was letting his crowd down light." Ferguson also charged that the private subscription proposed would be bribery.

Moody, in an opinion to Speaker Satterwhite, said that financing a special session called for impeachment by private means would be unauthorized and against public policy.

"Moody is letting his crowd down light," said Ferguson. "It must be remembered that the attorney general has previously ruled that Satterwhite could call the legislature only for impeachment proceedings which the attorney general ruled is a judicial function and the members of the legislature who responded to such a call would sit as jurors in a criminal proceeding and if they permitted anybody to give them one nickel for their services they would be just like any other juror in a criminal case. Mr. Satterwhite and his crowd may call it underwriting but it would be just plain, cheap bribery. These big Texas millionaires who are proposing to put up this money under the plea of underwriting something had just as well be called by their right names and I think the people are onto them already."

Speaker Satterwhite at Amarillo, in commenting on the ruling of the attorney general, said that he had already made it plain that each member of the house was to pay his own expenses in Austin and that no funds from private or public sources would be accepted. He said that only one representative had requested his name stricken from the petition. On the other hand, he said, he had received today, another name from a representative who heretofore had declined to support the move.

"Only one out of the 62 representatives had withdrawn his name and his place had been taken," said Satterwhite. "Only 50 signatures are required. It takes 100 members to make a quorum before an investigation of impeachment charges can be made."

With the political battle somewhat quieted between the principles, numerous reports are being circulated. They ranged today from the intimation that governor Ferguson would seek re-election to the expressed opinion of chairman Edison of the democratic state executive committee that he did not believe that either of the Fergusons would enter the race next year.

The Travis County grand jury convened Monday for the December term. It is understood Moody will continue his investigation into the state highway department. Testimony obtained by the previous grand jury which failed to report indictments will be turned over to the new jury.

Moody's opinion left the possibility of members attending a special session at their own expense. Satterwhite's letter asking him for the opinion did not ask a ruling on this issue as the speaker evidently assumed that the members of the legislature could meet at any time at their own expense.

The Double Test

By CRITTENDEN MARRIOTT

(© 1925, Western Newspaper Union.)

HENRY VAN STORMOUT stamped up the three steps to the broad porch. At the top he paused and glared at the exceptionally handsome young woman who had come to the door to meet him.

"Mr. Harvey in?" he demanded. The girl studied him curiously. "No," she answered at last. "Dad won't be in till night. But I'm the business manager of this ranch. 'Spose you sit down and talk to me."

"Thank you," he said, less gruffly than before. "I'm Mr. Stormout," he continued. "I'm a business man, here on business, and I believe in putting things plainly. My son, Jack, is infatuated with you and wants to sacrifice all his prospects by marrying you. I want to buy him off and I'm prepared to pay. What's your price?"

Once more the girl studied the man. "You're gambling that I can deliver the goods," she observed; "and I'll play that you are right, and lay my cards on the table. I've done a good deal to pull Jack out of the dregs. Your son got here in an empty car. He had fled from New York because he thought he had killed a waiter in a hotel when he was drunk. He was a bundle of dirty rags when a brakeman flung him out of the car and under my horse's feet. I'd ridden over for the mail. Coming that way he seemed to be a special charge on me. So I told Jim Harris, dad's foreman, to put him in the wagon and take him to the ranch and try to make something out of him. That was three years ago. Three years! I suppose you've been hunting for him ever since?"

Van Stormout grunted. "You suppose wrong," he snorted. "He'd been going to the dogs for three years before that; and I wiped him out of my books. But when my younger son died two months ago I started a search. If he's still a sot—"

"He isn't. He hasn't touched a drop for more than two years. But if he had stayed a sot whose fault would it have been?"

"I can see that I owe you a good deal," repeated Stormout. "But, my dear young lady, can't you see that his reformation makes it all the more necessary for him to marry his class? The Stormouts are a very old family. They go back to—"

"To Adam! I know! So do the Harveys. But wait! I'm not through yet. About six weeks ago I saw some of your search propaganda in the Tucson Star telling all about Jack and the waiter and all. That put it squarely up to me and no time to lose. It was a case of put up or shut up. So I threw myself squarely at Jack's head."

"You did what?" Van Stormout was bewildered.

"Proposed to him! I knew Jack had been in love with me for at least two years and I knew that he'd never ask me till he got that waiter off his mind."

"Humph," Van Stormout's feelings were sadly mixed. "You didn't tell him that—"

"I didn't tell him any truth, I lied. I told him that he had been identified and that officers were on the way from New York with extradition papers for him. And I offered to marry him and start for one of those Central American dumps where there isn't any extradition. I've got plenty of money—not so much as you have, I reckon, but plenty; and I said I'd put up for the two of us. Oh! I sure did make love to him, all right. And it would have about killed me if he'd taken me at my word. But I had to know, of course."

"Know what?"

"Know if he was yellow or clear white. And he turned out white. Turned me down flat. God bless him. I knew he was white; but—Lord! How I did love that boy. But I still had to prove him the other way."

"Eh?"

"Show him the primrose path, of course. So I told him that I had been lying—that there weren't any officers after him; that he hadn't even stunned that waiter, let alone killed him; that you had a fat calf ready to kill if he'd come home; and last I showed him the story in the newspaper."

"And then?" Van Stormout was breathless.

"Then he said that he preferred chicken to fat veal any day and that he meant to marry me and stay here; and that you could go to h—l. I knew he'd say something like that, but I was scared to death that he mightn't."

Van Stormout looked about him. "'Here' seems to be a pretty good place after all," he observed. "Looks a lot better to me than it did when I came half an hour ago. Probably it'll make a man of Jack in time."

"In time? He's a man, already!"

Nellie's tones were indignant.

Van Stormout snickered. "I'll take your word for it," he agreed, hastily.

"Shake"—he held out his hand.

Nellie took it. "Sure thing, papa," she chuckled.

Van Stormout chuckled, too. "Not yet," he cautioned. "Perhaps later—when I think it's time—"

"Time? Humph! I see it is time to put you wise to a few things. Jack and I were married yesterday. And Jack's coming up the walk right behind you. Shake again, papa—for keeps!"

And Van Stormout shook.

Attention AUTO OWNERS

The attention of all owners of motor vehicles and motorcycles is called to the following provision of the Texas Automobile Headlight Law:

"Section 16. Before any county tax collector shall issue a certificate of registration to the owner of a motor vehicle or motorcycle as now provided by law, he shall require the presentation of a certificate showing that the headlights of such motor vehicle or motorcycle have been tested and adjusted at some one of the county test stations referred to, and that said test and adjustment have been made in the thirty day period just preceeding the date of application for registration."

Early registration is urged because headlight stations will not be able to take care of tests if auto owners wait until the last few days available to them for registration.

The regular registration period will begin in this county on December 1, 1925.

SOCIETY NEWS

BY MRS. JEFF T. KEMP

BRADBURY—HENDERSON

Notable among the weddings of the season and of unusual interest to a wide circle of friends was that of Mr. Claude Wade Bradbury and Miss Olive Henderson which was solemnized at the Baptist church at one thirty o'clock on Thursday, December 3, 1925. The impressive ring service was said by their pastor, Rev. E. S. Hutcherson before the altar which was decorated to form a pleasing background for the grouping of the wedding party. Autumn leaves of variegated tints gave the typical suggestion of the month of changing foliage. Wall vases and large wicker baskets of golden, russet and bronze chrysanthemums in places of vantage emphasized the mellow hues of the mellow foliage, their rich tints blending in harmonious manner with the changing colors of the leaves and lent colorful touches to the typical woody altar glorified by the beauty of the autumn season. The ushers were Messrs. O. W. Crittendon and Tom A. Robinson Jr. of Dallas, cousin of the bride. They seated a large number of friends in the area marked for family and friends by maline bows and gold and bronze chrysanthemums. A large party of the groom's relatives came from Franklin. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. I. M. Pool, her aunt, Mrs. T. A. Robinson of Dallas were with her mother, who was handsomely gowned in black satin and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. A program of bridal solos was given before the ceremony with Mrs. A. C. Strickland of Cooleedge, sister of the bride at the piano. Mrs. Strickland wore a becoming gown of ashes of roses crepe with hat in tonal harmony. Miss Agnes Henderson gowned in golden yellow and wearing a becoming gold hat sweetly sang "Because". Miss Mildred Clinton, who wore a charming frock of peach crepe deftly played "Broken Melody" on the violin. Miss Eloise Rogers dressed in a Nile Green satin crepe appliqued with Hunter's green velvet motifs, wearing a small French chapeau in the same shades sang "O, Promise Me" as an expressive bridal solo. The accompanist modulated from this song into the familiar strains of Mendelsohn's Wedding March as the time came for the ceremony. The beautiful bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Henderson wore a modish ensemble costume of black velvet and silver brocade with fur trimmings of gray squirrel. Her hat was a smart imported model of gray and silver Dresden metal cloth. The accessories were in harmony with the gray and silver scheme. She carried a quaint colonial bouquet of pink sweetheart rosebuds and maiden hair ferns. The bridegroom approached the altar from the chancel and was attended by his brother, Mr. Alfred Bradbury of Franklin, as best man. Mrs. Clay H. Watson of Waco, who served her sister as matron of honor wore a modish gown of poudre blue with trimming of silver lace and silver ribbon and carried an arm sheaf of pink rosebuds. The maid of honor, Miss Constance Bradbury of Franklin, sister of the groom, was in embroidered apricot crepe and cut velvet with a gold lace picture hat and carried an arm cluster of gorgeous chrysanthemums. The bride was attended by two close friends as bridesmaids, Miss Sallie Coleman was attired in a copper colored satin frock with gold lace trimmings and carried an arm bouquet of copper colored chrysanthemums. Miss Louise Denson wore a peach colored gown made with basque effect with self colored lace trimmings and rosettes of self material and carried an arm bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury were driven to Milano in their car where they boarded the Sunshine special for a honeymoon trip to Houston and New Orleans. Upon their return they will be at home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Henley for some time.

BUFFET SUPPER

Following the rehearsal for the wedding ceremony on last Wednesday evening members of the Bradbury-Henderson bridal party enjoyed a buffet supper at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Henderson. Several violin numbers were played by the bride. There were present Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bradbury and daughter of Franklin, Mrs. A. C. Strickland of Cooleedge, Mrs. T. A. Robinson and T. A. Robinson Jr. of Dallas, Mrs. H. Clay Watson of Waco, Miss Eloise Rogers of Baylor College, Miss Agnes Henderson of Franklin, Miss Louise Denson of Branchville, Miss Sallie Coleman of Baylor University, Waco, Miss Constance Bradbury of Franklin, Miss Mildred Clinton and Mr. O. W. Crittendon.

BRIDAL LUNCHEON

Mrs. William Henderson entertained at noon Thursday with a buffet luncheon honoring the out-of-town visitors who came to attend the wedding of her daughter, Miss Olive Henderson to Mr. Claude Wade Bradbury, that afternoon. The daintily appointed dining table carried out the bridal theme in decorations. The personnel of guests included the following: Mr. C. L. Bradbury, Miss Constance Bradbury, Mrs. Poetter, Mr. and Mrs. Miller Bradbury, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Bradbury of Franklin, Dr. and Mrs. H. Clay Watson of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. Conway of Bryan, Mr. Louis Pierce and daughter, Miss Louise Pierce of Navasota, Mrs. A. C. Strickland of Cooleedge, Mrs. T. A. Robinson and T. A. Robinson Jr. of Dallas.

Members of the Episcopal church have lately enjoyed two delightful social occasions. The first, was the evening Bishop Quinn recently spent in Cameron when Mr. and Mrs. Oxsheer Smith invited the members to meet him in their home. The cordial hospitality enjoyed at that time was quite in accord with the spacious and artistic surroundings. A happy atmosphere of informality prevailed, and the guest of honor was as active as any one present in the impromptu charades which offered so much pleasure to all the guests. Delightful refreshments were daintily served, and thoroughly enjoyed. The second festivity was the occasion of the Woman's Auxiliary having as guests members of the Guild and Auxiliary of Hearne. The hostess, Mrs. Geo. T. Graves, added much to the pleasure of the guests in her beautiful home, by her charming cordiality. After prayer by the president, the regular order of Auxiliary business was followed, interesting reports of local and general work were given, and exchange of ideas by members from Hearne and Cameron was most helpful.

The chairman of the program committee outlined the progress made by the Woman's Auxiliary during the century since its organization, stressing the development of a more Christ like ideal through the co-ordination of home and world interests. The afternoon was closed by the serving of lovely refreshments by the hostess.

The Young People's Service League at the last Sunday evening's meeting made several interesting decisions. One was, to devote their time at several week-day meetings to making of toys to be distributed on Christmas Eve, to children whose Christmas Day might otherwise be cheerless. Another definite plan was for a trip to the woods for evergreens for church decorations.

CATHOLIC CONVICTED IN BEE COUNTY GETS REVERSAL ON PLEA RELIGIOUS DISCRIMINATION IN TRIAL COURT

Austin, Dec. 5.—No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office, or public trust, in this state; nor shall anyone be excluded from holding office on account of his religious sentiments, provided he acknowledges the existence of a Supreme Being.—Section 4, Article 1 Bill of Rights, Constitution of the State of Texas.

No human authority in any case whatsoever ought to control or interfere with the rights of a conscience in the matter of religion, and no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious society or mode of worship. But it shall be the duty of the Legislature to pass such laws as may be necessary to protect equally every religious denomination in the peaceful enjoyment of its own mode of public worship.—Section Eight of Article One Bill of Rights, Constitution of the State of Texas.

Important Court Decision

An important decision by the court of criminal appeals of Texas handed down last week by Associate Judge F. L. Hawkins, with no dissenting opinion, should not be overlooked by the people of Texas. Antonio Guarez Juarez of Bee County, under conviction for selling intoxicating liquor, He was found guilty by a jury, and his punishment assessed to one year in the penitentiary. When the case was called for trial, appellant Juarez filed a motion to set aside the indictment claiming that the prosecution should be abated because in the selection of the grand jury, which returned the bill, he had been purposefully discriminated against because of his religious convictions, and had thereby been deprived of equal protection of the law under the fourteenth amendment to the constitution of the United States. This was overruled by the court. The opinion is a lengthy one and all-important. After reviewing the case and the authority cited, the Hawkins opinion read as follows:

No Catholic On Jury

"The indictment upon which appellant was convicted was returned by a grand jury of Bee County at the October term, 1923, of the district court. In his special plea appellant alleges that he has been deprived of the equal protection of the law guaranteed under the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, in that appellant is a Roman Catholic in his religious belief and that in the county of the prosecution approximately 20 per cent of the qualified voters of said county are members of said religious faith; that notwithstanding this no person of that faith was represented on the grand jury which returned the indictment; that such condition was not the result of accident or chance, but that since the spring term of 1919 of the district court of said county, no Catholic has been appointed or served on the jury commission of said county, and that since said term of court only one Catholic has ever served on any grand jury since the fall term of 1920.

"Appellant then pleads specifically the personnel of the jury commissions appointed by the court and of the grand jury selected by them for each term of court from the spring term of 1919 up to and including the term of court at which the indictment against appellant was returned alleging that all members of said jury commissions and the said grand juries were all of the Protestant faith, save and except one member of the grand jury for the fall term of 1920. Appellant further alleges that said discrimination the equal protection of the law, was by failure of the court to appoint other than Protestants upon the jury commission, and by failure of the jury commissions to select any Catholics upon the grand jury; that this failure was the result of a design on the part of the officers to deny representation to the Catholics and that by reason of the discrimination against members of the Roman Catholic church, the rights of appellant guaranteed to him under the fourteenth amendment of the Constitution of the United States, had been squashed and the prosecution against him abated. This special plea is verified by the affidavit of appellant. The bill of exception bringing this point forward for review recites that after presenting said special plea appellant asked leave of the court to offer witness to prove and sustain the allegation therein contained; that the state presented exception generally and specially to the plea and that appellant again tendered proof of its allegation, but that the court after hearing exceptions, overruled appellants plea without investigating into the truth or falsity of the matters therein alleged and refused to hear testimony in support of the motion.

Fourteenth Amendment Violated

"In bringing about a violation of the provisions of the fourteenth indirectly through its officers or amendment, the state cannot do agents, that which it could not do directly or legislative acts. If the legislature of the state should pass a law saying that hereafter no man holding to the Baptist religious faith or the Methodist religious faith or to the Roman Catholic religious faith, should ever be permitted to serve on a grand jury in this state and a party adhering to the religious faith so designated should claim that by such legislative act his rights under the fourteenth amendment had been violated, the validity of such law could never be sustained. This, as we understand it, is what appellant alleges in his plea, except that he avers the discrimination was designedly brought about through subordinate officers and agents of the state.

"The language of our state constitution has no application save in a persuasive way to the plea of appellant which invoked the protection of the fourteenth amendment, but we think it not amiss to here call attention of the provisions of our constitution with reference to religious freedom and tolerance. Section 4, article 1, Bill of Rights, Constitution of the State of Texas reads:

No Religious Test

"Section 4. No religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust, in this state; nor shall anyone be excluded from holding office on account of his religious sentiments, provided he acknowledges the existence of a Supreme Being."

"Section 6 of said article one, reads in part as follows: 'No human authority ought, in any case whatever, to control or interfere with the rights of conscience in matters of religion, and no preference shall ever be given by law to any religious society or mode of worship, but it shall be the duty of the legislature to pass such laws as may be necessary to protect equally every religious denomination in the peaceable enjoyment of its own mode of public worship.'

"It is well settled that when a plea such as was here interposed by appellant is meritorious on its face raising the federal question it is the duty of the court to hear evidence upon the issue and determine the truth or falsity of the allegation supporting the plea. This learned trial judge was in error in refusing to hear evidence tendered to sustain the averment of the special plea which demands the reversal of the judgment. It is so ordered and the cause is remanded.

"HAWKINS, Judge."

This is the law of the United States. This is the law of the State of Texas. It is important that all the people should be familiar with the provision of the federal and state constitution and the laws of the nation and commonwealth.

HOW HOME MISSIONS HELPS EVERYWHERE

Suggesting the possibilities of how our home and state mission program throughout the South will reinforce foreign missions at the same time word comes from Baltimore to the effect that the Russian Baptists located in that city are entering theological seminaries and training schools to prepare themselves for mission work in their home country so rapidly that so far it has been impractical to organize a Baptist church among them. Surely, where these persons of foreign birth are so ready to carry the Gospel to others of their own language in their native lands, Southern Baptists should bestir themselves anew in behalf of home and state missions in winning to Christ all persons of foreign birth among us.
